The table shows the relationship between grade levels and Lexile measures. It is based on research from 2010 to 2019 on about 3 million American students. The percentile number shows the percentage of students which someone has surpassed. A percentile value of 50% is the median Lexile measure of the grade.

You can click on the grades and Lexile measures to find books based on that value.

Book Sense 76 - Top Ten

Book Sense has compiled a list of the most popular books of the past five years from its Book Sense 76 lists, calling the list the "Best of the Best Books." About 1,000 booksellers were asked to vote on the list and pick titles they most enjoyed selling. Booksellers who belong to the Book Sense community of independent book stores will create special in-store promotions for the titles this summer. To create the list, Book Sense asked booksellers to vote on top ten ranked books from the Book Sense 76 lists over the last five years.

Message from headmaster

"I learned a long time ago as a parent and teacher, that the best way to help children succeed as students and readers, was to give them books; books that they were interested in and loved to read. That's because reading about what we love and are interested in provides the best pathway to grow and learn while also captivating our imagination and enthusiasm for learning and life.

The young reader who designed this site knew that to be true from his own experience as a reader. He wanted to share a pathway for others to find books they would enjoy and keep them reading, so he thoughtfully created this way for students to explore the great books in your BASIS Nanjing library.
